REMARKABLE ADDRESS

Of Archbishop Ireland at Notre Dame University Commencement

ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOL QUESTION

And the Antagonism of the Catholics. He Advises Catholics to Cease Anathematizing the State for Supporting Them—He is Proud of America in This Matter as in Many Other Things—Utterances of a Distinguished Catholic Prelate That are Opponent in Their Patriotism.

SOUTH BEND, IND., June 12.—Archbishop Ireland was the principal speaker at the golden jubilee of Notre Dame university, and his address was devoted to eulogizing the work of Father Edward Sorin, the founder of the university, and the deliverance of a powerful argument in favor of higher education. He particularly praised the state institutions, saying they were necessary, and that the Catholics make a mistake in fighting the system. On this latter subject he said: "The Catholic church always made liberal education one of her most cherished works. Schools were built by her as early as monasteries. In America the state builds schools, colleges and universities, and is lavish in its expenditures for their support. The question is put, why does not the church leave the work of education to the state, which commands wealth and power the former cannot hope to possess."

The question calls for a brief answer. I have no quarrel with the educational world. I admire, I am proud of my country in this matter as in so many others. America understands the importance of education. She always prized primary education; and to-day she aims at being the peer of all other countries. My ideal school is the Christian school where secular knowledge and religion are wedded in inseparable union. Yet I do not blame the state. What can the state do in view of all circumstances if the courts of the country leave out religion, and in this matter strive to make schools as neutral as schools can be. The state does the best it can. Let us be just to it, praising it for the good it does and admitting the force of the reasons for its shortcomings. Where they are unavoidable our practical duty is to make up for these shortcomings by extraordinary efforts in other ways.

To anathematize the state is a wrong and a folly. Would you have the state close its schools and colleges? But in no other manner can the masses receive an education. Moreover the state will not close its schools and colleges, and the millions will and must continue to frequent them. The legions of your Catholic children will be among their pupils. You have no buildings to-day to accommodate more than one-third of your children, and you scarcely have teachers for that number. Will you, I ask, censure those who believe in state institutions and in anger withdraw from them all spiritual watchfulness? By so doing some may reply we show our special predilection for the pupils of Catholic institutions. But will you, I ask, dare neglect unto death two-thirds of your children in order to save more easily the other third?

I will speak my full thought. I would work with double energy to make up for the necessary exclusion of religion from the programme of state institutions, and do all in my power to bring in some other manner their pupils under religious influences, and while so doing I would build up, but not in angry protest against the state school, the Christian school. And I would say to parents and to children, thrice blessed are those whose daily mental nutriment is secular and religious knowledge united. The Catholic school and the Catholic college have their mission among the Catholics of America. They are the ideal schools. From them, therefore, there must come ideal fruits. Without these fruits Catholic schools and Catholic colleges cannot justify themselves and cannot give reasons for their existence."

LUTHERAN SYNOD

Excursion to Gettysburg Battlefield—Sessions Will Close To-day.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 12.—About 400 persons accompanied the excursion tendered the general Lutheran synod by the Hagerstown entertainment committee to-day. Nearly all the synod delegates are here. The train stopped at Seminary Ridge and the visitors inspected the new theological seminary. They looked over the battlefield from the seminary observatory and then visited the Pennsylvania college buildings. President McKnight, of the college, is a member of the synod, and President Baugher, of the synod, is professor of Greek at the college. This afternoon the excursionists went over the battlefield and visited Pott Mar. The party returned to Hagerstown to-night.

An effort will be made to get through with the business of the synod to-morrow. It is probable the choice for the next meeting place will be between Akron and Mansfield, O.

Student Ohl Dies of His Wounds.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 12.—Frederick Ohl, the Princeton student and very popular foot ball player who was shot by the negro Collins on Saturday night, died shortly after 4 o'clock this morning at the infirmary on the college grounds. Ohl began sinking at 8 o'clock last night, and steadily grew weaker until he fell into a comatose state.

Student Cochran, who was also shot by the same negro, is not yet out of danger, but the attending physicians are hopeful of his recovery.

I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my housework. Mrs. W. L. Dunagan, Bonanza, Hickman county, Tenn. For sale by Chas. R. Goetz, Will W. Irwin, John Kier, Wm. E. Williams, C. IRON COMBINE

To Be Attempted at Southern Industries—Pretense to go Up.

New York Telegram to Pittsburgh Dispatch June 12.

One of the most active stocks in Wall street to-day was Tennessee Coal and Iron, and its strength unmasked a secret that has been kept for the past two days, and which will have an important bearing upon all southern industries, including the railroad traversing the south.

The secret means no more or less than that arrangements are being concluded to combine all the southern iron industries in such shape that there will be no cutting of prices, but a large reduction in running expenses.

Negotiations have been opened several times during the past five years to establish a permanent trust between the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, and the Sloss Steel and Iron Company, but in each instance they have failed to the ground, because all propositions have failed to receive the sanction of a majority of the board of directors.

With the return of activity in the iron trade in the south, and realizing the folly of the low prices of coal obtained by the large producing companies, the Tennessee Coal and Iron and Sloss Steel and Iron companies reopened negotiations last week with a view of forming a pool.

The result was that the agreement was drawn up providing for the establishment of a central sales agency, which shall fix the price for each company's product, and after an examination of the output for each month, shall distribute the proper allotment of profit. The agreement is to run one year, and any party desiring to withdraw in the succeeding year must give ninety days' notice before the end of the fiscal year during which the contract runs.

This contract was ratified by the full board of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company last Saturday, and seven out of nine directors of the Sloss Steel and Iron Company voted in favor of it yesterday, instructing President Seddon to affix his signature to the memorandum of agreement.

Presidents Baxter and Seddon were to meet in Nashville this morning, but President Baxter was detained by illness. It is expected that the agreement will be signed to-morrow, and the Thomas and the Woodward Iron Companies have been asked to join. Mr. Thomas has returned to Pennsylvania to consult with his board, and Mr. Woodward has gone to Wheeling and Cincinnati to consult with his directors.

There is no doubt that the alliance of these four companies will be accomplished, and it means for the south as an anthracite combination would for the north.

The only trouble about Tennessee coal and iron stock is that Mr. John H. Inman acquired a considerable line at high prices a few years ago, and this stock may come on the market to check the expected boom. Mr. Inman sails for Europe next week, but the Tennessee coal and iron pool proper is in the hands of Mr. John G. Moore, who is talking very high prices for the stock. He said to your correspondent this afternoon that if such a combination was perfected it would revolutionize the iron trade and make the south a strong factor in the situation.

WAR TO THE KNIFE

In the Coke Regions—Rainey Refuses to Join the Operators' Combine.

CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—It now seems probable that there will be war to the knife in the coke regions. Mr. W. J. Rainey, of this city, the largest coke operator in the country, has defeated the efforts of the coke operators to combine for the purpose of advancing prices.

In an interview Mr. Rainey says: "Yes, it is true that I have refused to join the syndicate, whose object is to raise prices. In the first place I do not believe in syndicates. I believe in everyone standing on his own foundation. I am opposed to the workingmen combining for the purpose of defeating the operators, and am likewise opposed to the operators combining for the purpose of defeating the men and to advance prices. I am a firm believer in fair competition."

"Will your decision prevent the other operators from forming such a combination, and will your action defeat the objects of the proposed syndicate?"

"I do not know that it will. They have gone ahead in the past without me. They can put the prices up to where they please, but it will not make much difference to me."

A BIG BOOM AHEAD.

The Wheeling Mills Will Soon be Milling, and the Wheels Wheeling.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 12.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie is quoted by his New York manager as saying: "The country at large does not realize the boom which has started in the industrial world. Iron and steel mills all over the country have contracted their full capacity for several months ahead, and many are actually unable to take additional orders. Since the bulk of their contracts were booked there has been an advance of fifty cents in pig iron. This fall consumers will find that they cannot place orders. The country is on the threshold of the biggest revolution in business it has ever experienced, and it is not a long ways off."

A Hypnotic Defense.

OMAHA, Neb., June 11.—The coroner's jury investigating the murder of Chapman, of Kansas City, which occurred Sunday night, held James Ish and wife to the grand jury as being equally responsible for the killing. Ish claimed that the dead man was criminally intimate with his wife, and that he detected the guilty couple and slay Chapman on the impulse of the moment.

The plea of the couple will be that Mrs. Ish was hypnotized by the madman and that she was not responsible for her misdoings, while under his control. The defense has already been advanced by Mr. and Mrs. Ish and Ranger, the father of the latter. James Ish, while conceding that his wife had done wrong and she herself, while acknowledging it, yet maintains she was in the hands of a man with hypnotic influence.

Crazy on Silver.

CINCINNATI, June 11.—The replies to a circular letter sent out to 120 Democratic editors of Ohio show that ninety favor from silver and the other forty are divided in their views. This result was made public to-day after the announcement of Senator Brice at Lima of his candidacy for re-election on a sound money platform.

Ordered on Trial.

OAKLAND, CAL.—"About two years ago I ordered from J. H. Gates & Co., San Francisco, a bottle of Summers Liver Regulator on trial, and so satisfactory has been its use in expelling bile from the system, and regulating the action of the liver that from an order of one at a time the order has risen to a dozen bottles at once."—B. AGAINST THE FILIBUSTERERS

Fitting Out in This Country to Aid the Cuban Insurgents—A Warning to All Citizens who Contemplate Aiding Those in Rebellion Against the Government of Spain—A Matter in Which the United States Must be Consistent—Violators of the Law will be Rigorously Punished.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—Secretary Olney is thoroughly determined that the United States government shall do all in its power, and all that international law requires, to prevent the violation of United States territory by persons who undertake to make it a base of hostile operations against Spain, with which power it is at peace. Complaints have reached the department of state through the Spanish minister that men are being recruited on American soil, and that armed expeditions are leaving our shores for the purpose of attacking the Spanish forces in Cuba. Whenever the necessary evidence can be procured these infractions of the law of the United States are to be severely punished, for the secretary of state will leave no just ground for complaint that the United States has failed in its obligations to other nations. Meanwhile, however, it has been deemed proper to give formal warnings to misguided people of what they may expect, so this afternoon the following proclamation by the President was issued from the state department:

WHEREAS, the island of Cuba is now the seat of serious civil disturbances, accompanied by armed resistance to the authority of the established government of Spain, a power with which the United States are at peace and desire to remain on terms of peace and amity; and

WHEREAS, the laws of the United States prohibit their citizens, as well as all others being within and subject to their jurisdiction from taking part in such disturbances adversely to such established government by accepting or exercising commissions for warlike service against it, by enlistment or procuring others to enlist for such service, by fitting out or arming, or procuring to be fitted out any armed ships of war for service, by engaging the force of any ship of war engaged in such service and arriving in a port of the United States and by setting on foot or providing, or preparing the means for military enterprises to be carried on from the United States against the territory of such government, now, therefore, in recognition of the laws aforesaid, and in discharge of the obligations of a friendly power, and as a measure of precaution, and to the end that citizens of the United States and all others within its jurisdiction may be deterred from subjecting to legal forfeitures and penalties, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States of America, do hereby admonish all such citizens and other persons to abstain from every violation of the laws hereinbefore referred to, and do hereby warn them that all violations of such laws will be rigorously prosecuted; and I do hereby enjoin upon all officers of the United States charged with the execution of said laws the utmost diligence in preventing violations thereof and in bringing to trial and punishment any offenders against the same.

By the President:

RICHARD OLNEY, Secretary of State.

It saves that ruinous wear and tear that comes from rubbing. But there's another point to think about, more important still:

Pearline is absolutely harmless to any washable substance or fabric.
